

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT one of the most interesting town characters in Circleville's history was "Jim Crow," a common, black crow owned by Charles Siebert a carpenter, of this city, in 1882. Everybody knew "Jim," who could speak fluently, and according to The Herald of the time, "knew how to cuss when the occasion demanded."

Under the tutorage of Mr. Siebert, whom he called "Pa," the crow learned to talk. He was caught up with the word "caw"—a kind of an "oh yeah!" expression of the day and delighted in flying around the town shouting the words at every one walking along the street.

The most curious of "Jim's" characteristics was his fondness for an old hunting dog. He slept with the dog during the winter months and it was a delight, according to newspapers of the time, to see "Jim" and the old dog together.

Whenever the dog worried "Jim," the latter would simply peck and pull his ears until the dog was glad to lie still. Miss Lillie Darst, The Herald's only woman editor, wrote an entertaining article about "Jim" in March, 1882, in which she said that "Jim was everybody's friend and one of the town's outstanding personalities."

The crow was quite fond of attending school. Every noon and in the evening when the time neared for school closing, "Jim" would take a bath and fly off to Everett's school building and light in an open window of the room where Mr. Siebert's son, Charles, was a pupil.

He would call for "Chuck" and make so much noise in doing it that the teacher would be forced to excuse Charles much to the latter's delight. "Jim" was an inveterate thief. The Herald of the time relates, in pointing out that he would swoop down upon a party of boys playing marbles, snatch one of the marbles and fly away.

One of the most interesting sights a Circlevillian would care to see in the days of 1882 was "Jim" out walking with the rest of the Siebert family. Mrs. Siebert would often accompany her children on walks about the town and "Jim" and his bosom friend, the hunting dog, would always tag along.

"Jim" lived 12 years. His death in 1887 was given prominent space in all three of the Circleville papers.

That "The Circleville Club for the Protection of Fish" was organized in March, 1882, Henry P. Folsom and Festus Walters were the "king-fishes" of the organization which had as its chief purpose to bring about the arrest and conviction of anglers who got their fish by any other means than by a hook and line.

That the first successful machine for the manufacture of pretzels was made at the Scioto Machine Works, this city, in 1882. Many machines to make the "crooked crackers" had been designed previously, but the locally-made pretzel maker, was the most successful. Designed by Thomas Huber, a workman in the Scioto shops, it was sold to the California Cracker Company of San Francisco.

UNEMPLOYED PLAN PARADE, DEMAND HELP

Police on Duty as Relief Office is Hinted Object of March

TO DEMAND RELIEF

Delegation to Visit 'Dads' on Monday

Full strength of the city police force was on duty today and spending most of its time in the vicinity of the FERA office, E. Main-st., when it was reported a "hunger march" was planned. The original hour was 11 a. m. but the parade which was being formed in Washington-st south of the railroad track had failed to materialize at noon.

A number of persons preparing to take part in the parade carried banners and placards carrying various inscriptions.

Meet Friday Eve

A huge meeting of unemployed was held in the common pleas court room Friday evening with an unnamed Columbus man urging the local relief workers, who have been cut off as a result of the squabble between the commissioners and the federal relief office, to organize and to demand their rights.

A delegation of 20 has been appointed by local organizers to visit the commissioners in their meeting Monday to demand that something be done.

The commissioners and the federal office are at odds as a result of C. C. Stillman, federal chief, sending Winfred Utley, Cleveland, to take Howard Irwin's job as administrator. Utley went to Columbus when the commissioners refused to permit him to take the office.

Action Undetermined

What the county dads will do in their meeting Monday is not certain. The relief workers have not intimidated who their spokesman will be when the delegation visits the court house.

$500 DAMAGE IN HOME FIRE

Children Playing In County Line Residence Cause Friday Blaze

Damage of $500 was estimated Friday evening at the farm home of John Eitel on the Fairfield-co line two miles north of Stoutsville when flames gutted the residence. The property is owned by Walter Miesse.

The local fire department was called at 6 p. m. and did everything it could to save the frame building. The interior, however, was almost ruined. A bucket brigade of neighbors was hurriedly formed and helped save the structure.

No household goods was damaged by the flames.

Firemen were informed the flames were started by Eitel children playing in a clothes closet with matches.

PLUM SUCCEEDS PAT J. KIRWIN

Charles W. Plum, a junior in the College of Commerce, has been elected president of the Pickaway-co Ohio State Club at the university for the coming year to succeed Pat J. Kirwin, third-year journalism student.

Other officers elected at a recent meeting include: Judith Schlegel, Ashville, vice president; Mariel Sayre, Circleville, secretary; and Wells Wilson, Pickaway-twp, treasurer.

Outgoing officers besides Kirwin include Mary Ruth Tolbert and Floyd Graves of Pickaway-twp, and Donald May, E. Franklin-st.

The club is planning a weiner roast for members on May 23.

FIND STOLEN CAR

The Ford 1929 car of Francis Kennedy, Washington C. H., has been found parked in the rear of the Container Corporation. It was stolen from the Fayette-co city.

Lamson Jury Deliberates on Noose, Prison, Freedom

Freedom and Allene. David Lamson. Gallows. Whether David Lamson, former Stanford university press executive, accused of the murder of his pretty wife, Allene, goes to the gallows, to prison for life, or a free man and to the arms of his four-year-old daughter, rests in the hands of a jury at San Jose, Cal. Once convicted and placed in death row at San Jose, Cal., Lamson contends his wife fell in tub.

MRS. CROMLEY HEADS WOMEN

Walnut-twp Woman Again Elected President of Democratic Group

Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Walnut-twp, was re-elected president of the Pickaway-co Democratic Women's club Friday evening when a number of club women met in the probate court room.

Mrs. Cromley has served through the past year.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. T. B. Gephart, Williamsport; Second vice president, Mrs. Anna Ball, Walnut-twp; Recording secretary, Miss Alma Glick, this city; Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Orion King, this city; Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Saltcreek-twp.

Miss Emily Yates was chairman of the nominating committee. Announcement was made of a Democratic women's meeting in Columbus May 18 which local women are urged to attend, and another in Cincinnati May 23 with a number of prominent speakers to be present. An invitation was read from the Hamilton-co Democratic Women's club urging the Pickaway-co women to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Bernice Pyke, former resident of Circleville, will be one of the speakers on the Cincinnati program.

GUARD, CONVICTS DIE IN PEN FIGHT

EASTHAM PRISON FARM, Tex., May 11—Penitentiary authorities opened an investigation today into disorders which claimed the lives of a guard and two convicts within a few hours of the electrocution of desperado Raymond Hamilton and his pal, Joe Palmer.

Jack Peddy, convict leader of a daring break at the prison farm here in which four felons seized weapons in a raid on the arsenal, was shot and killed by possemen. Virgil Welch, a guard, was slain in the break. Another guard was slightly wounded and a convict turnkey at the arsenal was shot three times by Peddy.

Peddy's three co-conspirators fled into the woods and vanished. A second disorder, at the main penitentiary saw Ernest Young, long-term murderer, fatally stabbed in a prison yard fight involving 60 felons. Three other convicts were wounded in the affray.

ARTHUR HEFFNER ADJUDGED INSANE

Judge C. C. Young today had adjudged Arthur J. Heffner, Saltcreek-twp, insane and ordered him confined in the state hospital at Athens.

The decision was based upon testimony of Drs. G. W. Heffner and D. V. Courtwright.

JURY SETTLES CASE

A jury in common pleas court, Friday afternoon, deliberated only 10 minutes to determine that Howard Puffinbarger, Williamsport, is the father of the child of Dollie Knece, also of Williamsport.

Edward C. Rector was foreman of the jury.

Jurors Studying Fate of Lamson

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 11—The gallows... imprisonment... or freedom. One of those three. The fate of David A. Lamson, Stanford University press executive accused of the "bathtub murder" of his attractive wife, Allene—remained in the hands of a middle-aged jury of seven men and five women here today.

Deadlocked after five hours, the jurors were locked up at 1:30 last night and were to resume deliberations today.

It was the second time a jury sought to determine whether Lamson killed his wife in their Stanford campus bungalow on Memorial day, 1933. The verdict of the first jury, death on the gallows, was set aside by the state supreme court.

Lamson, meanwhile, sat in his cell in county jail and laughed and joked with friends who came to give encouragement that the verdict would be "right."

The crowded courtroom buzzed with many rumors, among them one that the jury stood 7 to 5 for convictions.

Early today there was excitement at the court-house where Sheriff George Lyle informed there were noises in the darkened jury room, rushed in and found two newspaper reporters looking for possible ballot sheets taken last night.

The reporters said they found nothing. Lyle searched them and found a piece of paper reading "5-7-A." This would indicate, Lyle said, a possible vote of seven to five for acquittal.

Whether Circleville shall have band concerts throughout the summer will be one topic discussed with Prof. C. F. Zaenglein, in charge of high school instrumental music, to be present to help in the discussion.

Other questions to be aired are the park project and business district parking on Saturdays. Barton Holl, capable manager of the Logan Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker. He will outline some of the methods used in his city to help business organization. Holl is a capable speaker and should be interesting.

A good attendance is desired with reservations to be made with any director of the Chamber of Commerce or with Mack Parrett, Jr., secretary.

Count Says "No"

So insistent was Count Curt Haugwitz-Reventlow, Danish nobleman, that he is not going to wed Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, five-and-ten heiress who is about to receive her divorce in Reno, that he waged money on it with newspapermen and photographers who met him at the pier in New York City. The count tried in vain to dodge interviewers.

QUARREL FATAL TO MURRAY CITY MAN

LOGAN, May 11—Officials announced today that first degree murder charges probably will be filed against Joe Chivers, 55, of Murray City, in connection with the fatal wounding yesterday of John Maraz, 68.

4 YOUTHS FINED

Four Circleville youths were fined and three of them were sent to the Cincinnati work house Friday when they were given hearings before Mayor W. B. Cady for petit larceny. They admitted taking matches from the barn of Fred Donnelly.

CAMPAIGN FOR PARK FINANCE OPENS JUNE 1

Adkins to Name Committee of Five in Charge of Solicitation

$10,000 SUM NEEDED

Several Locations Now Being Considered

Plans for a city-wide campaign for a fund of $10,000 with which to build a park were outlined Friday evening when the general committee met in the council chamber. The drive will start the first week in June, J. W. Adkins, Jr., chairman of the park committee, announced today with a committee of five leaders to be selected the first of the week.

It is planned to confine the drive to a single week with every person in the city to be solicited for aid.

No Site Selected

No definite site has been selected for the park but five or six locations are under consideration. "Nothing will be done," Adkins said, toward the purchase of a site until we have the money in hand.

"Other cities no larger than Circleville have carried on such a campaign," he declared, "and I see no reason why this city can't do the same thing."

The park proper would be placed under the FERA with the $10,000 fund being drawn upon for materials. Adkins voiced his belief today that the commissioners will patch up their difficulties with the federal relief authorities and continue government aid for such projects. The committee chairman said the swimming pool project would be sidetracked for a while and when the park finances had been arranged efforts would be made to place the swimming pool under the Public Works system wherein 30 per cent of the money is a grant and the other 70 per cent a loan. "The pool would be a self-liquidating proposition," Adkins declared.

Must Be Paid For

The government will not consider loans for projects until the site has been selected and paid for.

The committee was enthusiastic in its Friday meeting that the recreation ground plan would be a success.

Adkins is spending considerable time selecting the committee which will head the drive for funds.

Another meeting is scheduled next Friday evening.

FARMERS REACH ALASKA HOMES

PALMER, Alaska, May 11—Jubilant at the completion of their long trek and the first sight of their new homes, the Minnesota farmers who are to colonize this fertile valley under FERA were unpacking their belongings in their temporary tent homes here today.

Five hundred transient workers, the vanguard that erected the tent city and did the preliminary ground-clearing for the colony, together with veteran residents of the valley, welcomed the 67 farm families to the Matanuska valley.

JURY VOTES HUGE SUM TO HUSBAND OF ANNE CANNON

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 10—In a record verdict, a North Carolina jury today had awarded F. Brandon Smith, 29-year-old former second husband of Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith, towel heiress, $125,000 in his alienation of affections suit against Joseph Cannon Sr., multi-millionaire textile manufacturer.

The award was one of the largest sums on record in a heart balm action. Smith sued for $250,000. Cannon's counsel announced the verdict would be appealed.

URGE PROTEST TO MILK BILL

Dairy Council, Farm Bureau Ask Carey Measure Be Killed

COLUMBUS, May 11—Representatives of farm organizations prodded Ohio farmers today to join the battle to kill the Carey milk control bill, which they branded "a bold attempt to set up a permanent political machine."

Led by the Central Dairy Producers Council and the Ohio Farm Bureau, the farm bloc, claiming to represent the interests of a majority of Ohio dairymen, leaped into action against the measure of Rep. John Q. Carey (D), of Toledo, to change the method of control when the Burk act expires July 1.

The objections are: Opposition to centralized control centered in Columbus;

The licensing system, which opponents claim would extract thousands of dollars a year from the pockets of the farmers to support the milk commission and its "political machine";

Protests against a provision "which would place definite limitations on farmers' earning ability and in no sense guarantee a fair return upon their investments." This provision, proponents say, is designed to guarantee the farmer cost of production by price regulation.

The Carey bill would set up a three-member commission appointed by the governor instead of the Terms would be full time, instead present body of four members of part-time as at present.

CITY OFFICER MURDERED BY NEGRO ROBBER

Patrolman Ed Murphy, 39, Shot Four Times; Killer is Wounded

FOUND IN BUILDING

Slain Man's Brother Chief of Detectives

COLUMBUS, May 11—First degree murder charges were filed today against Willard Walters, 26, negro burglar suspect who shot and killed Policeman Ed Murphy here early today when the officer attempted to arrest him in the basement of a downtown business building.

Walters, wounded by Patrolman Kenneth Watts, who accompanied Murphy, was confined in a temporary hospital at city prison. He suffered leg injuries, physicians said.

Murphy was killed instantly by a bullet wound in the chest, police authorities said.

Found Window Broken

They said he accompanied Walters on an inspection of the building basement after Walters found a window broken in the building.

Patrolman Murphy was shot through the heart, the chest, the left groin and the right arm. His revolver, its magazine empty, was found beside his body.

Walters, police declared, was spotted cowering in a corner of the basement. He fired point blank at Murphy as the officer located him but fell himself when Walters returned his gunfire.

Police said they received no report of a burglary today although there was evidence that several offices had been ransacked during the night.

Police Chief Fred Kunds today took over the investigation of the shooting and planned to quiz Walters if his condition will permit.

On Force 14 Years

Murphy, one of the most popular policemen on the force, was 39. He was unmarried and had been on the force about 14 years.

Several negroes were held by police for questioning.

Murphy was a brother of Serg. William J. Murphy, head of the detective homicide squad, who is well known here having visited this city a number of times.

We only begin to understand God's love and tenderness when we interpret him in the terms of a mother's love and tenderness. Home is wherever she is. Her spirit builds a home. Her love endows it with unselfishness. Her tenderness surrounds it with the atmosphere of happy content.

The greatest tribute we can pay our mothers is to be the kind of person she would want us to be. A dedication to her ideals of faith and love would be the supreme tribute.

To a mother falls the task of training those who are to do for their generation who she did for hers.

The Salvation Army reports that during 1934 the organization worked with 91 peoples speaking 81 languages, provided 13 million beds and 34 million meals.

The largest weekday church school in America is said to be that established for the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades of children in Norwood, Ohio. The enrollment is 1465. The school has been operating for the past eight years under the sponsorship of the eight churches of the town. A great demonstration of the work of the school will be featured in June of this year.

The Hebrew university, located on top of Mount Scopus, overlooking the plains of the Jordan valley began ten years ago with only three courses and 141 students. Today its enrollment is more than 100 students from 21 countries. Seventeen distinguished German professors and scientists are among the members of the faculty. These students and teachers are helping to solve the industrial, agricultural and health problems of Palestine and the whole Near East.

Tom Paine prophesied that within a hundred years from the time he wrote in ridicule of the Bible, the sacred Book would have become extinct. Today the house in which Paine penned his prophecy has become a depository of the Holy Scriptures and the Book is still the world's best seller while his books have practically sunk into oblivion.

At a meeting of the Universal Christian Council's Administrative committee, recently held in London, it was definitely decided that the next World Conference should be held in Oxford, England August, 1937. The theme will be limited to approximately two hundred and fifty representative leaders.

A Mother's Influence on the Boy Scout Movement

Few probably know that the great Boy Scout movement was given its religious bent because of the love of a mother for her son. Bishop Taylor Smith tells it this way:

When the Boy Scout movement began in America, a big camp had been arranged which was to include the youngest boys — boys of eight years. At seven o'clock on the first evening, one of the little boys came to the officer who was chief of the camp and said, saluting, "Please, sir, my mother said if I camp to camp I was to go to bed at seven o'clock."

"Very well, replied the chief, go to bed!"

"And please, sir, my mother said that if I came to camp I was to say my prayers."

"Very well, my boy, say your prayers!"

Man is never homeless while his mother's picture hangs on memory's wall.

When the Boy Scout movement began in America, a big camp had been arranged which was to include the youngest boys — boys of eight years. At seven o'clock on the first evening, one of the little boys came to the officer who was chief of the camp and said, saluting, "Please, sir, my mother said if I camp to camp I was to go to bed at seven o'clock."

"Very well, replied the chief, go to bed!"

"And please, sir, my mother said that if I came to camp I was to say my prayers."

"Please, sir," said the scout, with his hand still raised in salute, "I always say my prayers at my mother's knee; can I say them at yours?"

The chief was so touched that he took the boy aside in the woods, and there they prayed together. From that time the Boy Scout movement became a religious movement, although it had not started along these lines.

ENJOYED BY 100 COUPLES

Among the many delightful affairs enjoyed this year by high school gatherings was the first all high school dance, Friday evening, in Memorial hall.

The Stodge club, an active organization at the school, sponsored the party and hopes to make it an annual affair.

One hundred couples comprised of club members, their parents, a few guests and high school students enjoyed the merry evening.

Earl Hood and his orchestra, who have won favor with dancers here on a number of occasions, were at their best at last night's hop.

During the evening George Rader, who was recently elected president of the Stodge club to succeed Ned Plum, was presented.

A group of friends were entertained following the dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Littleton, N. Pickaway-st. The party honored their daughter, Miss Jane Littleton, on her seventeenth birthday anniversary.

Included in the group were Misses Ann Vierebome, Betty Sayre, Dorothy Fohl, Ruby Chalfrin, Mary Ann Sapp and Marjory Mader and Otis Mader, Fred Grant, Roderick Watts, Dick Plum, Richard Harman, Junior Sweyer, George Speakman and Miss Littleton.

The pleasure of the luncheon hour was enjoyed during the afternoon of bridge.

LUTHER LEAGUE TO HAVE CONVENTION SUNDAY

The spring convention of the Scioto Valley Luther League association will be held Sunday afternoon and evening at Lockbourne.

A number of members of the local league are planning to attend.

The junior choir of Trinity Lutheran church will take part in the program in the afternoon singing two numbers.

Those who desire to attend are to meet at the church at 1:30 p. m.

GIRL SCOUT SONG SESSION POSTPONED

The Girl scout song session of the five troops in the city, scheduled for Monday at 4 p. m. at the Presbyterian church, has been postponed until a later date.

GRANGE ENJOYS TRAVELING PROGRAM

Members of Washington Grange enjoyed a traveling program presented by Salter Creek Valley grange, Friday evening, at their regular meeting in Washington-twp school auditorium.

Two hundred and fifteen members of the two granges attended the session. The program consisted of the following:

Piano solo by Miss Gift Macklin and Mrs. Frank Shride; recitation by Roonne Ketterman; talk on "Opening of King Tut's Tomb," by D. W. Macklin; history of Salter Creek Valley grange by Miss Mary Porter; surprise stunt by Mrs. D. W. Macklin; piano solo. Roonne Ketterman and a talk, "The Ungrateful I," by Harold Strous.

Lunch was served by Washington grange at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Ray Bowman was chairman of the committee.

It was announced at this session that the Pomona Grange meeting, scheduled for Saturday, May 18, at Scioto Valley grange hall, would be postponed until May 25.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT LADIES' AID MEETING

The Salem Ladies' Aid society enjoyed an interesting program in observance of Mother's Day at its regular meeting, Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Alva Dyer in Pickaway-twp.

The meeting opened with a devotional service in charge of Mrs. Olive Haral followed by a business session. The program presented consisted of a reading, "The Bible My Mother Gave Me," by Mrs. Ruth Woolver; reading, "Don't Take My Little Home," by Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie; vocal solo by Jane Dyer; reading, "Save My Mother's Picture from the Sale," Mrs. Olive Haral; vocal duet, Mrs. Charles Waple and Mrs. Donald Hildenbrand.

Reading, "You'll Never Miss Your Mother 'Till She's Gone," Mrs. Frank McAfee; music by Miss Velma Brewer; reading, "My Mother," Mrs. Frances Yarle; reading, "This Home Because Mother is There," Mrs. Harley Heffner; vocal duet, Mrs. Haral and Mrs. McKenzie; recitation, "He Was Once Some Mother's Boy," Miss Velma Brewer; reading, "Picture on the Walls," Mrs. Hildenbrand; group singing; recitation, "Called in Memory of Mother," Mrs. Peter Waple, and the program closed with prayer by Mrs. Bernard Young.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses to 22 members and guests.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank McAfee.

PRESBYTERIAN W. M. S. HAS ALL-DAY SESSION

The monthly all-day session of the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church was held Friday in the church basement.

Seventeen were in the group that enjoyed sewing during the morning hours and the luncheon at noon.

The devotional service opening the afternoon meeting was in charge of Mrs. Charles Nauman. Miss Sadie Brunner, vice president, conducted the business transactions.

Missionary talks on "The Island of Hainan" and "Mexico" were given by Miss Edith Haswell and Miss Bertha Bowers reviewed the last chapter in the study book on Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Elliott, of Newark, will spend Sunday with Mrs. Elliott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Updyke of Circleville-twp.

THE TEAM OF 22 MADE UP THE FIRST GROUP FROM CIRCLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL EVER TO VIE FOR HONORS IN THE DISTRICT TESTS

C. H. S. PARTICIPANTS AS A WHOLE PLACED TENTH AMONG ALL CITY TEAMS

ANNUAL EXPECTED "OFF PRESS" SOON

Proofs of the 1935 edition of the "Circle" are now being edited by the annual staff under the supervision of Miss Margaret Mattison.

After looking over the copy and photographs, it is the opinion of every one that this is going to be the most interesting yearbook ever offered the students of C. H. S.

The illustrations, especially the snapshots, are much better than anything ever to be had in the past. Every senior will want one of these memory books in which a history of his last year in high school has been so vividly portrayed.

Other students who wish one of these books should see any member of the graduating class and make arrangements for his copy. Within several weeks they will be delivered to the high school. They are priced at one dollar.

Rev. Whitwell Addresses High School Students

The Christian youth and the value of education was the subject on which the Reverend Mr. Whitwell talked before the student body Monday morning.

Revival services are being conducted each evening by Rev. Whitwell at the United Brethren church with unusual success. He was equally well received by his high school audience.

In honor of two of Circleville's teachers a group of about 60 of the city's instructors enjoyed a delightful dinner party at the Pickaway Country club the past Monday evening.

The honored members of the group were Mrs. Ray Davis, who is in charge of music, and P. S. Herberholz, instructor of athletics.

MAY CELEBRATION TERMED SUCCESS

Huge Crowd Witnesses "Year's Event" Just Before Rain

Having been postponed for eight days and "Beating the weather man at his own game" the May Day festival was staged Thursday May 9, just one hour before Jupiter Pluvius "turned on the shower."

Miss Dorothy Fohl, reigning as Queen, was beautifully attired in a gown of white organza, while her Court of Honor, including Anne Vierebome, Mary Ann Sapp, Rosemary Hammel, June West, Betty Lee Nickerson, and Mary Newmeyer were dressed in lovely pastel shades.

Violet McDowell, who was in yellow taffeta, and Charlene Lewis, in white organza carried the wreaths for the winners of the athletic events.

The costume worn by Marvene Wallace was very appropriate for her Spring dance.

The grade pupils performed nicely in their May Pole dances and singing.

The trumpeters for the occasion were Raymond Hill and Gaylord Greenlee, who were in Medieval court costumes.

A miniature track meet put on by the members of the girls physical education department completed the day.

Compliments are in order to the directors of this affair, Mrs. R. Davis, Miss Eleanor Ryan, Miss Marian Hitler, and Miss Elma Rains; also orchids to the elementary grades.

SIX LOCAL STUDENTS GIVEN CERTIFICATES

Matilda Davis, C. H. S. junior, tied for first place to make a splendid showing in the 11th year English division of the district scholarship tests conducted at Ohio State university on May 3.

Six out of the 22 C. H. S. students who participated in the tests captured coveted certificates. Only those who placed with the first ten high-scoring contestants in each division received the awards.

Announcement of the local winners was made by Principal E. I. Gephart in a recognition assembly Monday morning. They are Robert Lane, James Reichelderfer, Virginia Phillips, Ruth Robinson, Wahnta Barnhart, and Matilda Davis.

The team of 22 made up the first group from Circleville high school ever to vie for honors in the district tests.

C. H. S. participants as a whole placed tenth among all city teams.

STUDENT OPINION

Question — Should we have a May day celebration every year at C. H. S.?

Louise Helwagen, freshman: Although it has been the custom for many years for high schools and colleges to have May day festivities, C. H. S. has never had one previously. I think that because it is something new it arouses interest, we should continue to have them if possible.

John Rankin, sophomore: In the first place I think it takes too much time and expense to prepare for it. In the second place I don't believe people like these festivities as much as they used to. It might be alright for one or two years but as an annual custom it would soon lose interest.

Marvene Wallace, junior: Speaking of something new and different the May day festival is both. In reality it is old, but new to our school. Not different from the usual but different than anything C. H. S. has ever had. Something out of the ordinary always creates interest therefore, it is a good idea.

Junior Ruff, junior: Beauty is rare in most places but it abounds here at C. H. S. in the company of the May Queen. There has been much controversy about who is the most beautiful girl in high school and May day shows what the majority of the school thinks.

Bernice Liston, senior: Considering the work it takes to have a May day celebration and the result that is neither educational nor constructive, I think it is rather wasted effort on the part of the teachers and participants.

"May Day"

We planned a May Day for Wednesday at three. Many people came who wished to see.

But old Alexander called for rain.

So we had to postpone it. It was all in vain.

So we decided to have Thursday afternoon.

But I guess that was a little too soon.

As it was much water than the day before.

So we had to postpone it just once more.

DAWES STICKS TO HIS GUNS

CHARLES G. DAWES, former vice-president of the United States and an astute business man, predicted several months ago that a surging demand for durable goods in June or July would herald the return of prosperity.

Well, this is May, and has he changed his mind? He has not! Mr. Dawes now says he finds nothing to cause him to change his prognostication.

"I am of the same opinion still," said the general, puffing on his understling pipe.

"A great and sudden demand for heavy durable goods occurred in the great depressions of 1873 and 1893 at the same period of time after the beginning of each, to wit: about five years and seven months. June and July of this year mark the end of such a period since the beginning of this depression in 1929. In both former cases when the sudden demand occurred the trade was taken entirely unawares.

"This sudden rise in the demand for heavy durable goods at the end of a panic is inevitable, but because the rise is always sudden, it is always unexpected.

"Man is such a creature of mental habit that before a great depression, the common thing is to predict the continuance of prosperity; and at the end of a period of depression it is usual to predict a continuance of the depression.

"If the beginning of this great sustained demand in heavy durable goods does not commence in June or July of this year as I predicted, then, and not until then, in my judgment there is any justification of the claim that this recovery is not running the same course as to time as that of the two former great depressions of 1873 and 1893."

Is it possible that the former vice-president is right? There is much in that "creature of habit" theory, and the Chicagoan always has been noted for shrewd native sense.

CRACK-UP

THE estimable Huey's share-the-wealth, every-man-a-king program is off to a slow, halting and doubtful start in St. Louis. It is a fair question, in fact, as to whether the St. Louis sector of wealth-sharing and universal kingliness is not quite deflated, flat at the bottom and soft and flabby all the way round.

Some time ago the narrative running to this unhappy pass began with the opening of a St. Louis unit of Huey's share-the-wealth society. But it takes a share of the wealth to operate a political headquarters. And there was the trouble; for Huey's St. Louis manager, who was something of a regional organizer as well, as has been left without funds, flat, "broke", in short, as he himself says. There were "thousands of members" of the wealth-sharing society, "but not a dime with which to carry on." The Louisiana Kingfish was appealed to, but all he could suggest was that his St. Louis manager come to Washington "to talk it over." But there was the item of railroad fare, which the manager didn't have and which Huey did not volunteer to furnish. So the office is closed, the shades are down, the lights out, typewriters hushed, share-the-wealth folders silently in place — not a mouse stirring, and office rent and other bills unpaid.

Perhaps the simple moral is that wealth sharing should begin with its author, or somewhere in his vicinity. It is sad, and indeed strange, that beautiful schemes won't work according to schedule.

The world was finished in seven days. You see, the job didn't have to be done over for the news-reel cameras.

Mid-west farmers are missing an opportunity to see something of the country by remaining at home instead of coming East with their farms.

Prosperity, says General Dawes, will come in June or July. It will be just our luck to have it come along during a hot spell when our ambition is at a low ebb.

University standards, an educator says, are substantially higher. Interesting but hardly an adequate compensation for the loss of the coonskin coats of a more lush era.

Before passing judgment on the merits of the complaints of the Chicago woman who demands a divorce because her husband threw food at her, we would like to know just what varieties of food were involved.

Dr. Townsend suggests a fund of $100,000,000 to promote political thinking. This may properly be seized upon as a sign of the trend toward conservatism. Ordinarily, the good doctor thinks only in terms of billions.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Georgia Barr was appointed county treasurer to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, T. Dell Barr.

With Johnny Heiskell winning first place in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash, Circleville high school won fourth place in the Central Ohio class B track and field meet held at Denison university.

Logan Elm grange presented a special Mother's Day program at Pickaway-twp school building.

15 YEARS AGO

L. C. Hammel, Circleville was elected vice president of the district organization of Sons of Veterans at a meeting held here.

At a district convention of the Home Missionary society of the Methodist Church held at Logan, Mrs. E. L. Price, of Circleville, was named first vice president. Mrs. G. M. Fitzpatrick, also of Circleville, was named recording secretary.

Charles F. Weaver returned from a visit to St. Petersburg, Florida. Mrs. Weaver remained in the south for a more extended visit.

25 YEARS AGO

A new scale of wages for Scioto Valley traction line employees, a compromise agreement, gave motormen 27 cents an hour, conductors 25 cents an hour, and freight men 18 cents an hour.

The Littleopolis high school commencement was held May 4. There were seven graduates: Goldie E. Hickie, Leroy M. Soliday, Effie L. Roller, Harry E. Grabill, Roy S. Mathias, Ethel F. Schoff and Carl Zangmeister.

Mrs. Harry P. Lorbach and daughter, Miss Irma, entertained 140 ladies at a reception at their home on W. Mound-st.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

CHAPTER 19

AT THE edge of the gypsy camp she stood, motionless, looking before her with eyes of a starving person. Oh, God in heaven, this was home! This again the gypsy camp! The fragrance of the fire in her nostrils; the sound of Romany in her ears; the sight of the van in her eyes. The old familiar litter. Laughter. Shril voices of children. Loud words. Music of the flute.

It was Voda who looked up and saw her. "Look!" he shouted. "All eyes were upon her now. There was deadly silence. Girtza rose to his feet and straightened his big shoulders and stared at her.

No one moved. No one spoke. Just stared. And the Gypsy Consuelo stood as if on trial for her very life and down in her heart she was praying. The silence endured. It would never end. When it did—it would be over—over. Girtza would cry: "I do not know this person. Let no gypsy go to her." Ah, look at him, his face, twisted with anger—or might it be pain?

Finally his great voice boomed out at her: "Well, now, why are you standing there like a calf? Come and eat your supper before it gets cold!" With a cry she was in his arms, her face buried against his coat and he was hugging her to him.

"My frog, my little frog!" "Papa! Papa!" Emotion choked her. "Oh, papa, how good you are arms," she sobbed.

A moment passed. Then he cleared his throat and pushed her arm's length from him. "Ah, you are my bad little one to be so late for supper. Anica, a plate for a gypsy girl and an extra portion at that." He rubbed his hands across his eyes and blew his nose.

"Well, you fools," he shouted, "what are you standing there staring at? Get to your dinner! Get to your work! Before you let your eyes fall

MOTHERS' DAY

SUNDAY, MAY 12TH

Remember your Mother on Mothers' Day—as if you had to be reminded! Does she live in town? Surprise her. Sunday . . . drop in on her, take her for a drive, give her something nice and unexpected—it doesn't matter how small a gift you choose!

Does she live away? Then write her now—telegraph her or call her long distance—or, best of all, gladden her heart with a visit in person and a gift she'll adore in your bag! Her sincere appreciation will warm your heart for days and months to come.

ASHVILLE

New Holland's new mayor, C. V. Stebleton, is the step-father of Mrs. John Messick and Miss Louise Stoker of Cherry-st. and is a frequent visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Lindsay entertained Mrs. Minnie Hubbard of Columbus over the week-end.

Miss Lois I. Bond of Columbus, a former teacher in the Ashville public schools, spent Sunday with Mrs. Minnie Snyder and Miss Cleona Dunnick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oman, former Ashville residents and now located on a farm near Richwood, in Union-co, visited with Mrs. Oman's brother, Fred J. Hines and family, Wednesday.

Cliff Young and sister, Miss Cora Bock of East Ringgold, and Roland Brintlinger of near Ashville, spent Tuesday with their relative, Mrs. Sophia Briggs and had part in the celebration of her 88th birthday anniversary.

TIGERS THIRD IN CBL TRACK AND FIELD DAY

Delaware, Scoring High In Field Events, Tallies 50 Points; Bexley Second

Surely handicapped because the only points they obtained in the field events were those registered by Fred Grant in the pole vault, the Tiger track and field team took third place in the Central Buckeye league meet Friday on Selby field, Delaware. Grandview did not participate, Westerville being the only school to finish behind the Red and Black.

Delaware with 50 points won the annual Central Buckeye league meet with Bexley in second with 35 points and the local outfit with 32 points. Westerville was only one-half point behind the Tigers.

Six Marks Broken

Splendid weather prevailed and six records went by the boards, John Griffith of the Tigers barely missing a record in the 220-yard low hurdles when he missed his stride although he won the race. Griffith took another first in the 120-yard high hurdles, making three straight meets in which he won both the hurdle contests.

John Jenkins won the half mile race while the other first the Red and Black obtained was in the pole vault where Grant scored.

The records established in the meet were:

Shot put, 43 feet 8 1/2 inches by Vandervort, Delaware;

880-yard relay, Bexley, 1 minute 37 2-5 seconds;

440-yard dash, Banks of Delaware, 53.4 seconds;

Discus, Stone of Delaware, 103 feet 9 inches;

220-yard dash, Hutchins of Bexley, 22.3 seconds;

Mile relay, by Delaware, 3 minutes 43.9 seconds.

The summary:

100-YARD DASH: Won by Sharpe, Delaware, 10.4 seconds; Hutchins, Bexley, second, 10.5 seconds; Jenkins, third, Bradner, Bexley, fourth.

220-YARD DASH: Won by Hutchins, Bexley, 22.3 seconds; Sharpe, Delaware, second, Coleman, Circleville, third; Graham, Marysville, fourth.

440-YARD DASH: Won by Banks, Delaware, 53.4 seconds; Franzier, Westerville, second; Jenkins, Circleville, third; Hofmayer, Bexley, fourth.

880-YARD DASH: Won by Jenkins, Circleville, 2 minutes 13 seconds; Beck, Westerville, second; Franzier, Westerville, third; Schwine, Westerville, fourth.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES: Won by John Griffith, Circleville, 17 seconds; Baker, Marysville, second; Grigsby, Marysville, third; Frazier, Westerville, fourth.

220-YARD LOW HURDLES: Won by Griffith, Circleville, 27.4 seconds; Baker, Marysville, second; Easton, Westerville, third; Colden, Westerville, fourth.

880-YARD RELAY: Won by Bexley (Joseph, Bradner, O'Neill, Hutchins), 1 minute 37 2-5 seconds; Delaware, second; Westerville, third; Circleville, fourth (Grant, Bell, Osborn, Holland).

MILE RELAY: Won by Delaware (Banks, Conrad, Myers, Wyss), 3 minutes 43.9 seconds; Bexley, second; Westerville, third; Circleville, fourth (Thomas, Henderson, Bell, Friley).

POLE VAULT: Won by Grant, Circleville, 16 feet; Hord, Westerville, second; Baker, Marysville, third; Friley, Circleville, fourth.

HIGH JUMP: Won by Wiley, Delaware, and Bailey, Bexley, 5 feet 4 inches; Grant, Circleville, third; Jones, Westerville, fourth.

BROAD JUMP: Won by Mann, Westerville, (no record of distance); Robertson, Westerville, second; Morris, Bexley, third; Bailey, Bexley, fourth.

DISCUS: Won by Stone, Delaware, 103 feet 9 inches; Collier, Westerville, second; Ewing, Marysville, third; Neutzing, Bexley, fourth.

JAVELIN: Won by Conrad, Delaware, 139 feet 9 inches; Turney, Delaware, second; Smith, Marysville, third; Beck, Westerville, fourth.

SHOT PUT: Won by Vandervort, Delaware, 43 feet 8 1/2 inches; Conrad, Delaware, second; Ewing, Marysville, third; Hofmayer, Bexley, fourth.

VETERAN WINS 'LIGHT' TITLE FROM AMBERS

Tony Canzoneri Takes Unanimous Decision of Judges, Referee, Crowd, Foe

NEW YORK, May 11—So they never come back, eh? Tony Canzoneri, re-crowned lightweight champion of the world, must be chucking today over that ancient dictum of the ring. It's true no other lightweight champion ever regained the title after losing it, but then the ring never saw another Tony Canzoneri.

The game little battler from New Orleans regained the crown Barney Ross knocked off his head two years ago by handing Young Lou Ambers a boxing lesson before 17,433 cash customers in the Garden last night.

And for once the verdict was unanimous from the judges and referee to the fan in the most distant reaches of the upper gallery. There wasn't a dissenting voice not even from Ambers.

In his dressing room after the fight, Ambers said simply: "The better man won. I gave the best I had but he was too smart for me. But I learned a lot and I'd like to fight him again some time. Gee, what a lot of gloves he shoved me."

In the other dressing room, the veteran Tony, took his victory as coolly as he did Ambers' punches. "He's a great little fighter," was Tony's tribute "and he ought to go far. He made me hustle all the way."

CUMMINGS WON $29,725 PRIZE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 11 —It cost Mauri Rose $569.44 per second for finishing 27 seconds behind Bill Cummings in the 500-mile race here last year. But Mauri hopes to wipe the slate clean with a victory in the twenty-third renewal of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway classic on May 30 this year.

Wild Bill, drove with a consummate skill to win the big gasoline derby, enriched himself to the tune of $29,725 while Mauri had to be content with second money or $14,350. This did not include endorsement fees made after the victory. At that it was a profitable five hours work for the little Dayton speeder.

Rose has obtained a new mount with which to bid for another big slice of the $100,000 purse this year. He will pilot the Clinton Four-Wheel Drive Special with which Frank Brisko led the 1934 race for nearly 70 laps.

In last year's race the division of prizes left a number of others with a substantial day's pay. Lou Moore, a consistent finisher in the money, took $6,675 for third place while Deacon Litz earned $4,250 for finishing fourth. The late Russo, in fifth, earned $3,600. Al Miller, sixth, took $2,300; Cliff Bergere, seventh, took $2,150; Russell Snowberger, eighth took $1,850; Brisko took $3,050 for ninth and Herbert Ardinger earned $1,625 for tenth place.

LONG HOME STAY AHEAD FOR BIRDS

COLUMBUS, May 11—Completing a road invasion of every city in the American Association Wednesday at Milwaukee, the Columbus Red Birds return here Friday, May 17 to open the longest home stay of the current season. Except for a two-day gap from May 28 to 31, when the Birds visit Toledo, the Columbus club will play host to every team in the A. except Toledo before taking to the road again on June 8.

Regardless of the bumps and bruises incurred in the present road trip, the Birds are certain of a rousing welcome when they return to their own Stadium. St. Paul will raise the curtain here with a single game Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock that has been labeled the "re-opener" by those in charge of Opening Day arrangements that were postponed April 16 because of snow flurries. Friday night, Red Bird Nest No. 84 is to hold a Homecoming Dance at the Southern Hotel for both the Birds and the Saints with the general public members of other Birds Nests invited.

Saturday afternoon promises one of the largest throngs of the season at the Mount-stadium when the 126 Birds Nests with their 10,000 members hold the first annual convention of its kind. Every Birds Nest member in the State is to be the guest of the Red Birds on this date and to increase attendance, President George M. Trautman has declared the day a

NORM'S NEXT CARD JUNE 6

Small Crowd Causes Delay Until Summer; Toles Takes Walk-out Powder

Norman Aronson, who is sponsoring amateur fight cards at Scippo park, announced today that he is through with the game until June 6 hoping that weather will be more agreeable for fist-fans at that time.

His next card will be staged on that date.

Friday evening's card, postponed from Thursday, was attended by only a small crowd with a substitution necessary in the main go when Salty Toles, pride of briar-town, got cold feet and would not enter the ring with Willie Gaines, national guard champion. Toles did offer to go in but his demand for cash on the line was too high.

Don Brannon, clever guardsmen, took on Gaines and won the nod after a hectic fight. The three rounds ended in a draw while Brannon won the edge in the fourth.

Merle Davis won a decision from Chuck Jackson in the semi-windup; Harold Brown took Eddie Bird in three rounds and Emerson Sayre won the referee's decision from James Emerine.

Cum Robinson was the third man in the ring and Bill Pickens did the announcing.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Loyalty Big Word

"Loyalty" in the dictionary is a word meaning: "firm allegiance; fidelity in duty" and it is one of the biggest words in the dictionary as far as athletic are concerned.

Stooges Big Help

That is one word that must be pounded into any athletic team because it can be a success—We believe that the Stooge club, organized among high school students most of whom are athletes, has done more to create a loyal spirit in the school than has any one other organization in the school's history. The Stooges have exemplified the word "loyalty" through nearly all the present school year and promise as the years go by to make it even a stronger organization being a relatively larger assistance to the school.

Roger to Visit City

Many high school athletes and alumni, too, are just itching to get a look at Elmer Reger, newly-elected coach, and their wishes may be realized before long because Reger plans to come here from his present home in Orrville to get acquainted with some of the boys even before the present school year is ended.

Griffith Developing

The work of John Griffith in the hurdle events is being watched closely because it may have a decided effect on his football ability next fall. With the experience Griffith has had this year under Coach Herberholz' hand he has shown much development and should prove a strong factor in the school's grid offense next year.

NEW HOLLAND WINS ANNUAL COUNTY FETE

Boys' Score High; Monroe Girls Prove Class of Annual Field Day

New Holland high school remains supreme in county field day circle after again winning the track and field meet conducted in that village Friday before a large crowd. The combined scores of the New Holland boys and girls was 48 5-6 with Pickaway second, 33; Washington third, 32 1-3; Walnut fourth, 32; Deer Creek fifth 23 5-6; Monroe sixth, 23; Ashville seventh, 20; Sater Creek eighth, 15 1-2; Darby, ninth, 14; Perry, tenth, 9; Scioto, eleventh, 5 1-2, and Jackson, twelfth, 1. Muhlenberg did not participate.

New Holland boys led all the scorers with 44 5-6 points while counting the girls alone. Monroe would have won with 23 points. The Monroe boys, however, failed to score so the team total was no higher than 23.

The meet was one of the best conducted in recent years. Bill Griffith, former Circleville high school coach, was in charge of the meet assisted by several Ohio State athletes.

Big Boy Know
By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT one of the most interesting town characters in Circleville's history was "Jim Crow," a common, black crow owned by Charles Siebert a carpenter, of this city, in 1882. Everybody knew "Jim," who could speak fluently, and according to The Herald of the time, "knew how to cuss when the occasion demanded."

Under the tutelage of Mr. Siebert, whom he called "Pa," the crow learned to talk. He was caught up with the word "yeah"—a kind of an "oh yeah" expression of the day and delighted in flying around the town shouting the words at every one walking along the street.

The most curious of "Jim's" characteristics was his fondness for an old hunting dog. He slept with the dog during the winter months and it was a delight, according to newspapers of the time, to see "Jim" and the old dog together.

Whenever the dog worried "Jim," the latter would simply peck and pull his ears until the dog was glad to lie still. Miss Lillie Darst, The Herald's only woman editor, wrote an entertaining article about "Jim" in March, 1882, in which she said that "Jim was everybody's friend and one of the town's outstanding personalities."

The crow was quite fond of riding school. Every noon in the evening when the time neared for school closing, "Jim" would take a bath and fly off to Everetts' school building and light in an open window of the room where Mr. Siebert's son, Charles, was a pupil.

He would call for "Chuck" and make so much noise in doing it that the teacher would be forced to excuse Charles much to the latter's delight. "Jim" was an inveterate thief. The Herald of the time relates, in pointing out that he would swoop down upon a party of boys playing marbles, snatch one of the marbles and fly away.

One of the most interesting sights a Circlevillian would care to see in the days of 1882 was "Jim" out walking with the rest of the Siebert family. Mrs. Siebert would often accompany her children on walks about the town and "Jim" and his bosom friend, the hunting dog, would always tag along. "Jim" lived 12 years. His death in 1887 was given prominent space in all three of the Circleville papers.

That "The Circleville Club for the Protection of Fish" was organized in March, 1882. Henry P. Folsom and Festus Walters were the "king-fishes" of the organization which had as its chief purpose to bring about the arrest and conviction of anglers who got their fish by any other means than by a hook and line.

That the first successful machine for the manufacture of pretzels was made at the Scioto Machine Works, this city, in 1882. Many machines to make the "crooked crackers" had been designed previously, but the locally-made pretzel maker, was the most successful. Designed by Thomas Huber, a workman in the Scioto shops, it was sold to the California Cracker Company of San Francisco.

It consisted of cylinders and dies which cut out the pretzels at the rate of 480 per minute. It greatly simplified the process and reduced the cost of production by a large sum.

The first firm in Ohio to buy one of the machines was the Butler, Earhart and Company cracker establishment of Columbus.

UNEMPLOYED PLAN PARADE, DEMAND HELP

TO DEMAND RELIEF

Delegation to Visit 'Dads' on Monday

Full strength of the city police force was on duty today and spending most of its time in the vicinity of the FERA office, E. Main-st., when it was reported a "hunger march" was planned. The original hour was 11 a. m. but the parade which was being formed in Washington-st south of the railroad track had failed to materialize at noon.

A number of persons preparing to take part in the parade carried banners and placards carrying various inscriptions.

Meet Friday Eve

A huge meeting of unemployed was held in the common pleas court room Friday evening with an unnamed Columbus man urging the local relief workers, who have been cut off as a result of the squabble between the commissioners and the federal relief office, to organize and to demand their rights.

A delegation of 20 has been appointed by local organizers to visit the commissioners in their meeting Monday to demand that something be done.

The commissioners and the federal office are at odds as a result of C. C. Stillman, federal chief, sending Winfred Utley, Cleveland, to take Howard Irwin's job as administrator. Utley went to Columbus when the commissioners refused to permit him to take the office.

Action Undetermined

What the county dads will do in their meeting Monday is not certain. The relief workers have not intimidated who their spokesman will be when the delegation visits the court house.

Children Playing In County
Line Residence Cause
Friday Blaze

Damage of $500 was estimated Friday evening at the farm home of John Eitel on the Fairfield-col line two miles north of Stoutsville when flames gutted the residence. The property is owned by Walter Messer.

The local fire department was called at 6 p. m. and did everything it could to save the frame building. The interior, however, was almost ruined. A bucket brigade of neighbors was hurriedly formed and helped save the structure.

No household goods was damaged by the flames.

Firemen were informed the flames were started by Eitel children playing in a clothes closet with matches.

PLUM SUCCEEDS PAT J. KIRWIN

Charles W. Plum, a junior in the College of Commerce, has been elected president of the Pickaway-co Ohio State Club at the university for the coming year to succeed Pat J. Kirwin, third-year journalism student.

Other officers elected at a recent meeting include: Judith Schlegel, Ashville, vice president; Mariel Sayre, Circleville, secretary; and Wells Wilson, Pickaway-twp, treasurer.

Outgoing officers besides Kirwin include Mary Ruth Tolbert and Floyd Graves of Pickaway-twp, and Donald May, E. Franklin-st.

The club is planning a weiner roast for members on May 23.

Whether David Lamson, former Stanford university press executive, accused of the murder of his pretty wife, Allene, goes to the gallows, to prison for life, or a free man and to the arms of his four-year-old daughter, rests in the hands of a jury at San Jose, Cal. Once convicted and placed in death row at San Quentin, Lamson was granted a new trial by the state supreme court for the strange bath-tub death of Mrs. Lamson. Lamson contends his wife fell in tub.

MRS. CROMLEY HEADS WOMEN

Walnut-twp Woman Again
Elected President of Democratic Group

Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Walnut-twp, was re-elected president of the Pickaway-co Democratic Women's club Friday evening when a number of club women met in the probate court room.

Mrs. Cromley has served through the past year.

Other officers elected were:

First vice president, Mrs. T. B. Gephart, Williamsport;

Second vice president, Mrs. Anna Ball, Walnut-twp;

Recording secretary, Miss Alma Glick, this city;

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Orion King, this city;

Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Salt Creek-twp.

Miss Emily Yates was chairman of the nominating committee.

Announcement was made of a Democratic women's meeting in Columbus May 18 which local women are urged to attend, and another in Cincinnati May 23 with a number of prominent speakers to be present. An invitation was read from the Hamilton-co Democratic Women's club urging the Pickaway-co women to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Bernice Pyke, former resident of Circleville, will be one of the speakers on the Cincinnati program.

GUARD, CONVICTS DIE IN PEN FIGHT

EASTHAM PRISON FARM, Tex., May 11.—Penitentiary authorities opened an investigation today into disorders which claimed the lives of a guard and two convicts within a few hours of the electrocution of desperado Raymond Hamilton and his pal, Joe Palmer.

Jack Peddy, convict leader of a daring break at the prison farm here in which four felons seized weapons in a raid on the arsenal, was shot and killed by possemen. Virgil Welch, a guard, was slain in the break. Another guard was slightly wounded and a convict turnkey at the arsenal was shot three times by Peddy.

Peddy's three co-conspirators fled into the woods and vanished. A second disorder, at the main penitentiary saw Ernest Young, long-term murderer, fatally stabbed in a prison yard fight involving 60 felons. Three other convicts were wounded in the affray.

ARTHUR HEFFNER ADJUDGED INSANE

Judge C. C. Young today had adjudged Arthur J. Heffner, Salt Creek-twp, insane and ordered him confined in the state hospital at Athens.

The decision was based upon testimony of Drs. G. W. Heffner and D. V. Courtwright.

JURY SETTLES CASE

A jury in common pleas court, Friday afternoon, deliberated only 10 minutes to determine that Howard Puffinburger, Williamsport, is the father of the child of Dollie Knece, also of Williamsport.

Edward C. Rector was foreman of the jury.

Jurors Studying Fate of Lamson

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 11.—The gallows... imprisonment... or freedom. One of those three.

The fate of David A. Lamson, Stanford University press executive accused of the "bathtub murder" of his attractive wife, Allene, remained in the hands of a middle-aged jury of seven men and five women here today.

Deadlocked after five hours, the jurors were locked up at 1:30 last night and were to resume deliberations today.

It was the second time a jury sought to determine whether Lamson killed his wife in their Stanford campus bungalow on Memorial day, 1933. The verdict of the first jury, death on the gallows, was set aside by the state supreme court.

Lamson, meanwhile, sat in his cell in county jail and, laughed and joked with friends who came to give encouragement that the verdict would be "right."

The crowded courtroom buzzed with many rumors, among them one that the jury stood 7 to 5 for convictions.

Early today there was excitement at the court-house where Sheriff George Lyle informed there were noises in the darkened jury room, rushed in and found two newspaper reporters looking for possible ballot sheets taken last night.

The reporters said they found nothing. Lyle searched them and found a piece of paper reading "5-7A." This would indicate, Lyle said, a possible vote of seven to five for acquittal.

CAMPAIGN FOR PARK FINANCE OPENS JUNE 1

Adkins to Name Committee of Five in Charge of Solicitation

$10,000 SUM NEEDED

Several Locations Now Being Considered

Plans for a city-wide campaign for a fund of $10,000 with which to build a park were outlined Friday evening when the general committee met in the council chamber.

The drive will start the first week in June, J. W. Adkins, Jr., chairman of the park committee, announced today with a committee of five leaders to be selected the first of the week.

It is planned to confine the drive to a single week with every person in the city to be solicited for aid.

No Site Selected

No definite site has been selected for the park but five or six locations are under consideration. "Nothing will be done," Adkins said, toward the purchase of a site until we have the money in hand.

"Other cities no larger than Circleville have carried on such a campaign," he declared, "and I see no reason why this city can't do the same thing."

The park proper would be placed under the FERA with the $10,000 fund being drawn upon for materials. Adkins voiced his belief today that the commissioners will patch up their difficulties with the federal relief authorities and continue government aid for such projects. The committee chairman said the swimming pool project would be sidetracked for a while and when the park finances had been arranged efforts would be made to place the swimming pool under the Public Works system wherein 30 per cent of the money is a grant and the other 70 per cent a loan. "The pool would be a self-liquidating proposition," Adkins declared.

The government will not consider loans for projects until the site has been selected and paid for.

URGE PROTEST TO MILK BILL

Dairy Council, Farm Bureau
Ask Carey Measure Be Killed

COLUMBUS, May 11.—Representatives of farm organizations prodded Ohio farmers today to join the battle to kill the Carey milk control bill, which they branded "a bold attempt to set up a permanent political machine."

Led by the Central Dairy Producers Council and the Ohio Farm Bureau, the farm bloc, claiming to represent the interests of a majority of Ohio dairymen, leaped into action against the measure of Rep. John Q. Carey (D), of Toledo, to change the method of control when the Burk act expires July 1.

The objections are:

Opposition to centralized control centered in Columbus;

The licensing system, which opponents claim would extract thousands of dollars a year from the pockets of the farmers to support the milk commission and its "political machine";

Protests against a provision "which would place definite limitations on farmers' earning ability and in no sense guarantee a fair return upon their investments." This provision, proponents say, is designed to guarantee the farmer cost of production by price regulation.

The Carey bill would set up a three-member commission appointed by the governor instead of the Terms would be full time, instead present body of four members of part-time as at present.

When Christ drew out of the Apostle Peter the confession of faith, "Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God," he said he would make this faith the foundation of his church and promised it would endure through the ages.

The growth of the church is not natural but supernatural. All that man does is to sow the seed which is the word of God. God gives the increase. Jesus likened this growth to that of a tiny mustard seed which became a great tree.

Paul wrote a letter from his prison in Rome to the Ephesians which is the great church letter. In it he calls the church the body of Christ and the members with Christ the chief corner stone.

The church is God's appointed meeting place and "melting pot" for all races and classes and conditions of mankind whose "middle walls of partition" are here broken down through Christ.

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHERHOOD.

We only begin to understand God's love and tenderness when we interpret him in the terms of a mother's love and tenderness. Home is wherever she is. Her spirit builds a home. Her love endows it with unselfishness. Her tenderness surrounds it with the atmosphere of happy content.

The greatest tribute we can pay our mothers is to be the kind of person she would want us to be. A dedication to her ideals of faith and love would be the supreme tribute.

Let us this Mother's Day be found in the place of worship where she would have us be. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH ON MOTHER'S DAY?

To a mother falls the task of training those who are to do for their generation who she did for hers.

The Salvation Army reports that during 1934 the organization worked with 91 peoples speaking 81 languages, provided 13 million beds and 34 million meals.

The largest weekday church school in America is said to be that established for the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades of children in Norwood, Ohio. The enrollment is 1465. The school has been operating for the past eight years under the sponsorship of the eight churches of the town. A great demonstration of the work of the school will be featured in June of this year.

The Hebrew university, located on top of Mount Scopus, overlooking the plains of the Jordan valley began ten years ago with only three courses and 141 students. Today its enrollment is more than 100 students from 21 countries. Seventeen distinguished German professors and scientists are among the members of the faculty. These students and teachers are helping to solve the industrial, agricultural and health problems of Palestine and the whole Near East.

Tom Paine prophesied that within a hundred years from the time he wrote in ridicule of the Bible, the sacred Book would have become extinct. Today the house in which Paine penned his prophecy has become a depository of the Holy Scriptures and the Book is still the world's best seller while his books have practically sunk into oblivion.

At a meeting of the Universal Christian Council's Administrative committee, recently held in London, it was definitely decided that the next World Conference should be held in Oxford, England August, 1937. The theme will be limited to approximately two hundred and fifty representative leaders.

A Mother's Influence on the Boy Scout Movement

Few probably know that the great Boy Scout movement was given its religious bent because of the love of a mother for her son. Bishop Taylor Smith tells it this way:

When the Boy Scout movement began in America, a big camp had been arranged which was to include the youngest boys—boys of eight years. At seven o'clock on the first evening, one of the little boys came to the officer who was chief of the camp and said, saluting, "Please, sir, my mother said if I came to camp I was to go to bed at seven o'clock."

"Very well, replied the chief, go to bed!"

"And please, sir, my mother said that if I came to camp I was to say my prayers."

"Very well, my boy, say your prayers!"

Armstrong and McCrady Vows are Exchanged

Miss Mary Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, and Mrs. J. F. McCrady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McCrady, exchanged vows at a ceremony held at the home of Mrs. J. F. McCrady, 2400 Walnut-st., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Herman A. Sayre of the United Brethren church. The bride was attended in a pink suit with white accessories with which she wore a shower of pink roses and sweetpeas.

She left immediately after the ceremony for a week's trip to the Eastern states and on her return will reside on E. 1st-st. Mrs. McCrady graduated from the Training school in Columbus and formerly served as deputy recorder.

Mrs. McCrady is a graduate of the high school and Ohio State university at Ada where she studied civil engineering. She was employed in the county clerk's office.

VOLUME 8 MAY 12, 1935

SENIOR CLASS TO PRESENT "THE YOUNGEST" MAY 16, 17

MAY CELEBRATION TERMED SUCCESS

Huge Crowd Witnesses "Year's Event" Just Before Rain

Having been postponed for eight days and "Beating the weather man at his own game" the May Day festival was staged Thursday May 9, just one hour before Jupiter Pluvius "turned on the show."

Miss Dorothy Fohl, reigning as Queen, was beautifully attired in a gown of white organza, while her Court of Honor, including Anne Vlerchome, Mary Ann Sapp, Rosemary Hammel, June West, Betty Lee Nickerson, and Mary Newmeyer were dressed in lovely pastel shades.

Violet McDowell, who was in yellow taffeta, and Charlene Lewis, in white organza, carried the wreaths for the winners of the athletic events.

The costume worn by Marvone Wallace was very appropriate for her Spring dance.

The grade pupils performed nicely in their May Pole dances and singing.

The trumpeters for the occasion were Raymond Hill and Gaylord Greenlee, who were in Medieval court costumes.

A miniature track meet put on by the members of the girls physical education department completed the day.

Compliments are in order to the directors of this affair, Mrs. R. Davis, Miss Eleanor Ryan, Miss Marian Hitler, and Miss Elma Rains; also orchids to the elementary grades.

SIX LOCAL STUDENTS GIVEN CERTIFICATES

Matilda Davis, C. H. S. junior, tied for first place to make a splendid showing in the 11th year English division of the district scholarship tests conducted at Ohio State university on May 3.

Six out of the 22 C. H. S. students who participated in the tests captured coveted certificates. Only those who placed with the first ten high-scoring contestants in each division received the awards.

Announcement of the local winners was made by Principal E. I. Gephart in a recognition assembly Monday morning. They are Robert Lane, James Reichelderfer, Virginia Phillips, Ruth Robinson, Wahnta Barnhart, and Matilda Davis.

The team of 22 made up the first group from Circleville high school ever to vie for honors in the district tests.

C. H. S. participants as a whole placed tenth among all city teams entered.

ANNUAL EXPECTED "OFF PRESS" SOON

Proofs of the 1935 edition of the "Circle" are now being edited by the annual staff under the supervision of Miss Margaret Matison.

After looking over the copy and photographs, it is the opinion of every one that this is going to be the most interesting yearbook ever offered the students of C. H. S.

The illustrations, especially the snapshots, are much better than anything ever to be had in the past. Every senior will want one of these memory books in which a history of his last year in high school has been so vividly portrayed.

Best Wishes, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Herberholz

(AN EDITORIAL)

Circleville high school students are losing two "old" friends this year since Coach Herberholz and Mrs. Davis, supervisor of music, were not candidates for re-election.

Mr. Herberholz has served as coach and teacher for the past five years while Mrs. Davis is completing her fourth year. During this time the students have come to consider these two as an integral part of the school.

These two have been interested in the very finest things in their divergent lines of endeavor. Coach Herberholz has brought a spirit of good sportsmanship and fair play into athletics which is worth more to a school than undefeated teams.

Mrs. Davis has striven to develop an appreciation for the higher types of music. We know that we can witness an athletic contest or listen to a concert with greater pleasure for having had Mr. Herberholz and Mrs. Davis as our teachers.

In leaving we want them to feel that the students of Circleville are appreciative of their every effort in our behalf. They have been considerate of us and we trust that the future may be considerate of them and bring them much happiness and pleasure.

HI-Y NAMES DICK PLUM PRESIDENT

Dick Plum was elected president of the Hi-Y at its regular session, Tuesday afternoon. Dick will lead the club through its many activities during the coming school term.

Other officers elected include Billy Kellstadt, vice president; Richard Harman, secretary; Fred Grant, treasurer, and Harold Rummel, sergeant-at-arms.

Fred Grant was the only officer reelected. Fred served as sergeant-at-arms during the past school year.

The new officers will be installed May 14.

The Hi-Y will have its annual swimming party at the Central Y. M. C. A. in Columbus, Monday, May 20.

Student Opinion

Question — Should we have a May day celebration every year at C. H. S.?

Louise Helwegen, freshman: Although it has been the custom for many years for high schools and colleges to have May day festivities, C. H. S. has never had one previously. I think that because it is something new it arouses interest, we should continue to have them if possible.

John Rankin, sophomore: In the first place I think it takes too much time and expense to prepare for it. In the second place I don't believe people like these festivities as much as they used to. It might be allright for one or two years but as an annual custom it would soon lose interest.

Marvone Wallace, junior: Speaking of something new and different the May day festival is both. In reality it is old, but new to our school. Not different from the usual but different than anything C. H. S. has ever had. Something out of the ordinary always creates interest therefore, it is a good idea.

Junior Ruff, junior: Beauty is rare in most places but it abounds here at C. H. S. in the company of the May Queen. There has been much controversy about who is the most beautiful girl in high school and May day shows what the majority of the school thinks.

Bernice Liston, senior: Considering the work it takes to have a May day celebration and the result that is neither educational nor constructive, I think it is rather wasted effort on the part of the teachers and participants.

Upper Classmen to Enact Three-act Comedy Next Thursday, Friday

With the plot and title of their annual drama centering about that eternal question of "the downtrodden youngest" of each family, the Senior class of Circleville high school will present Philip Barry's Broadway hit next Thursday and Friday, May 16 and 17.

The scene of this unique comedy, which is confined to nine characters, is laid in New York. The plot centers about Richard Winslow, "the youngest" who is constantly heckled and oppressed by members of his large family. He leads a miserable life until he surprisingly rebels with the aid of Nancy Blake, the girl with whom he is in love.

Otis Mader and Elsie Ann Bremer will portray the leading roles. Others in the cast include Horace Gilmore as the pompous older brother, Oliver Winslow; Lydia Given in the role of the aristocratic older sister, Augusta Winslow; George Speakman taking the part of her husband, Alan Martin who is oppressed by his "in-laws." Virginia Winslow is cast as Charlotte Winslow, the confused mother who tries to reconcile the family. Carl Boggs and Dorothy Fohl will take the parts of the two remaining Winslow characters, Mark and "Muff," while Virginia Cady will portray the part of Katie, the maid.

"The Youngest" was successfully produced on Broadway in 1925 and ran for several seasons with such celebrities as Genevieve Tobin and Henry Hull in the leading role.

NEW TENNIS CLUB ELECTS FRED WATTS

Fred Watts, high school science instructor, was elected president of the newly-organized Circle Racquet club at its second meeting Tuesday, May 7.

Membership in the club, the organizers announce, is open to graduates and others interested in tennis as well as high school students. Dr. Howard Jones has given the players the privilege of using his tennis court located in Park Place providing it would be kept up by the club. At present meetings are held every Tuesday at the high school building. This organization has enrolled 25 high school students and three "outsiders."

Other officers of the organization are Otis Mader, vice-president; and Horace W. Gilmore, secretary — treasurer. It is expected that this group will bring to light in this community the well known but almost forgotten sport—tennis.

STOOGES SPONSOR DANCING FRIDAY

Good music, a congenial crowd, smooth floor and ideal weather all blended together last night, to make the first dance sponsored by the "Stooges" club at Memorial hall, an evening that will linger in the memory of the student body for some time to come.

The dance featured the "catchy" symphony of Earl Hood's dusty "harmony mixers" who have gained quite a reputation for themselves among the local dance circles and certainly did it no damage at last night's affair.

This was the last social affair of the year to be sponsored by the "Stooges" and judging by its tremendous success it will be repeated by next years club.

Much of the credit for the 1935 club's success goes to the "Stooge" advisor, Mr. Glenn, and the splendid cooperation of the "Stooge Dads" and the members.

"Uncle Don" Performs Tricks Before Students

The hand is quicker than the eye! So it seemed when Uncle Don, radio artist, performed some very unusual tricks in the high school auditorium Monday afternoon. The sleight of hand artist actually pulled fifty cent pieces out of several students' hair much to their surprise.

Uncle Don can be heard over WBNS every night at 6:30 p. m. except Saturday and Sunday.

At one of the most important meetings of the season, the Stooge club elected George Rader as the president for the coming year.

Other officers elected are Fred Grant, vice-president; Dick Plum, secretary; Richard Harman, treasurer; and Billy Kellstadt, sergeant-at-arms.

DAWES STICKS TO HIS GUNS

CHARLES G. DAWES, former vice-president of the United States and an astute business man, predicted several months ago that a surging demand for durable goods in June or July would herald the return of prosperity.

Well, this is May, and has he changed his mind? He has not! Mr. Dawes now says he finds nothing to cause him to change his prognosis.

"I am of the same opinion still," said the general, puffing on his underslung pipe.

A great and sudden demand for heavy durable goods occurred in the great depressions of 1873 and 1893 at the same period of time after the beginning of each, to wit: about five years and seven months. June and July of this year mark the end of such a period since the beginning of this depression in 1929. In both former cases when the sudden demand occurred the trade was taken entirely unawares.

"This sudden rise in the demand for heavy durable goods at the end of a panic is inevitable, but because the rise is always sudden, it is always unexpected.

"Man is such a creature of mental habit that before a great depression, the common thing is to predict the continuance of prosperity; and at the end of a period of depression it is usual to predict a continuance of the depression.

"If the beginning of this great sustained demand in heavy durable goods does not commence in June or July of this year as I predicted, then, and not until then, in my judgment is there any justification of the claim that this recovery is not running the same course as to time as that of the two former great depressions of 1873 and 1893."

Is it possible that the former vice-president is right? There is much in that "creature of habit" theory, and the Chicagoan always has been noted for shrewd native sense.

CRACK-UP

THE estimable Huey's share-the-wealth, every-man-a-king program is off to a slow, halting and doubtful start in St. Louis. It is a fair question, in fact, as to whether the St. Louis sector of wealth-sharing and universal kingliness is not quite deflated, flat at the bottom and soft and flabby all the way round.

Some time ago the narrative running to this unhappy pass began with the opening of a St. Louis unit of Huey's share-the-wealth society. But it takes a share of the wealth to operate a political headquarters. And there was the trouble; for Huey's St. Louis manager, who was something of a regional organizer as well, as has been left without funds; flat, "broke", in short, as he himself says. There were "thousands of members" of the wealth-sharing society, "but not a dime with which to carry on." The Louisiana Kingfish was appealed to, but all he could suggest was that his St. Louis manager come to Washington "to talk it over." But there was the item of railroad fare, which the manager didn't have and which Huey did not volunteer to furnish. So the office is closed, the shades are down, the lights, out, typewriters hushed, share-the-wealth folders silently in place — not a mouse stirring, and office rent and other bills unpaid.

Perhaps the simple moral is that wealth sharing should begin with its author, or somewhere in his vicinity. It is sad, and indeed strange, that beautiful schemes won't work according to schedule.

The world was finished in seven days. You see, the job didn't have to be done over for the news-reel cameras.

Mid-west farmers are missing an opportunity to see something of the country by remaining at home instead of coming East with their farms.

Prosperity, says General Dawes, will come in June or July. It will be just our luck to have it come along during a hot spell when our ambition is at a low ebb.

University standards, an educator says, are substantially higher. Interesting, but hardly an adequate compensation for the loss of the coonskin coats of a more lush era.

Before passing judgment on the merits of the complaints of the Chicago woman who demands a divorce because her husband threw food at her, we would like to know just what varieties of food were involved.

Dr. Townsend suggests a fund of $100,000,000 to promote political thinking. This may properly be seized upon as a sign of the trend toward conservatism. Ordinarily, the good doctor thinks only in terms of billions.

GYPSY GIRL
THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE
McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 53

AT THE edge of the gypsy camp she stood, motionless, looking before her with eyes of a starving person. Oh, God in heaven, this was home! This again the gypsy camp! The fragrance of the fire in her nostrils; the sound of Romy in her ears; the sight of the van in her eyes. The old familiar litter. Laughter. Shril voices of children. Loud words. Music of the flute.

It was Voda who looked up and saw her.

"Look!" he shouted.

All eyes were upon her now. There was deadly silence.

Girtza rose to his feet and straightened his big shoulders and stared at her.

No one moved. No one spoke. Just stared. And the Gypsy Consuelo stood as if on trial for her very life and down in her heart she was praying. The silence endured. It would never end. When it did—it would be over—over. Girtza would cry: "I do not know this person. Let no gypsy go to her." Ah, look at him, his face, twisted with anger—or might it be pain?

Finally his great voice boomed out at her: "Well, now, who are you standing there like a cat? Come and eat your supper before it gets cold!"

With a cry she was in his arms, her face buried against his coat and he was hugging her to him.

"My frog, my little frog!"

"Papal! Papal! Emotion choked her. Oh, papa, how good are your arms!" she cried.

A moment passed. Then he cleared his throat and pushed her arm's length from him.

"Ah, you are my bad little one to be so late for supper. Anika, a plate for a gypsy girl and an extra portion at that." He rubbed his hands across his eyes and blew his nose.

"Well, you fools," he shouted, "what are you standing there staring at? Get to your dinner! Get to your work! Before you let your eyes fall from your head, Puma, play us a tune—a good lively tune!"

Now the silence was broken. They were crowding around her, asking questions, appraising the quality of silk in her striped skirt and examining the jewelry that adorned her arms and throat. She was kissing this one and that and looking at the new babies, but all the time her eyes were searching for someone. She ate with her fingers, out of the plate heaped with meat and potatoes and cabbage. She licked her fingers when she had finished and laughed till she cried.

Anika took the empty plate.

"You have not spoken to your mother, pig!"

Old antagonism flared up.

"Now my mother has not spoken to me, nor has she asked me to kiss her!"

"I kiss no gypsy slut!" But she had not taken her eyes from the girl's face. She stepped closer now. "You have been unhappy. The gossies have hurt you?"

"Yes," Consuelo cried. "You are wrong!"

The woman stepped closer, her black eyes looking into Consuelo's. Then suddenly tears were rolling down her face and she had the girl in her arms.

"Oh, my little one, my daughter, they have hurt you?" She was holding her close. "I would kill the gossies who have taken the sparkle out of your eyes and the color from your cheeks!" She rubbed her hand across her eyes and stood back.

"Why did you leave your mother like a dog?"

"I was better off where you were. You're better here. There is no room in the van for you, but perhaps I can clear out a place for you to sleep tonight."

She hustled away and Consuelo stared after her, then she looked about her helplessly.

"A mother, now," she muttered. "Oh, God in heaven, this is too much for this bad one!"

Just then the Dummy came up to the crowd and saw her. Almost it might be said sound left his lips, and he threw himself at her feet and kissed her bare legs and buried his face in her hands and acted like a drunken man. She lifted up his face and looked deep into his eyes. She kissed his lips and held him close to her.

"Oh, Dummy, Dummy, my dear one, if it had not been for you I would never have come back," she whispered. "There was more to the picture than you painted," she said, but of course he could not hear her.

Merla, with her saucy black eyes, approached the girl and fingered the bracelets on her arm.

"You will marry the Dummy now?" she asked.

"And what makes you think that?" Consuelo returned.

"You must marry someone or I will not have you in the camp. You are a trouble-maker and Marcu and I—"

"You are his bride?" The words were like knives cutting her as she spoke them.

Merla preened herself and twisted her braids and displayed the jewelry on her arms.

"He is down in the town to buy a new tent now." She pointed to Marcu's wagon. "See, it is ours. We are thinking of leaving the tribe and buying a Ford, since it is Girtza is too old-fashioned to allow one in our tribe."

Consuelo moved closer to the girl.

"Tell me, are you married already?"

Merla threw back her head and laughed.

"Now it couldn't possibly make any difference to you. He wouldn't look at you any longer."

Consuelo grabbed her by the shoulders and shook her, till her head bobbed back and forth.

"You lie, you little toad! Tell me, are you his wife?"

"Not yet—"

Merla stammered, trying to get her breath.

Consuelo let go of her. It was her turn now to put back her head and laugh. "You will never see the inside of that new tent!" she cried.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Fair feminine hands waving at fledgling fliers high in the air; encouraging them, inspiring them to greater deftness at their delicate controls—this is a phase of American military flying which provides much of the human interest and entertainment in Wallace Beery's new stellar vehicle, "West Point of the Air" which opens Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre for 3 days.

"West Point of the Air" was photographed actually at Randolph Field, Texas. It shows the actual training of army pilots at this greatest of all flying schools.

But, even more important than the amazing thrills of the film, the picture also shows the women's side of a great enterprise.

It is provided by two popular players, Maureen O'Sullivan and Rosalind Russell. These two girls represent two points of view. Daughter of a General Lewis Stone, Maureen O'Sullivan holds loyalty to the service to be all-important.

AT THE GRAND

Will Rogers has a lot of fun making a picture. He really enjoys his work, but in no picture in which he has portrayed the leading role did he get the kick that he found in "The County Chairman," his latest for Fox Film, which comes to the Grand on Sunday. Rogers loves politics and most of his daily comment is based on affairs in that world. Many of the mirth-provoking quips in this picture were original with the famous comedian, and nearly all of them were spontaneous.

ASTONISHING EVENTS

ASTONISHING events occur at the bridge table. A reader of The Toronto Star offers an example of such strange events in his description of what took place with the deal shown today.

To say the least the bidding was unusual: South, 1-Club; North, 2-Spades; South, 3-Clubs; North, 3-Spades, all of which might take place at any table, although North might well have bid 4-Hearts, after having shown his great spade strength, at which he should readily have made 5-0-0-0. Then came the amazing part of the bidding: South, 4-Hearts (over partner's 3-Spades); North, 6-Hearts, ending the auction without a double.

Mother's Milk Best Food For Baby Before Weaning

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE BEST food for the newborn baby is human mother's milk, and, if possible, the mother should feed the baby up to the seventh or eighth month. If this time happens to fall in the summer months, it is best not to wean the baby even then.

Weaning is a gradual process, and in some instances supplementary feeding, which is partial weaning, may have to be given from the first. The question of whether to do this or not is one that calls for medical judgment, and is based largely on the question of increase in weight.

We are fortunate today in that medical ingenuity has been able to devise so many different kinds of artificial foods. Mother's milk differs considerably from cow's milk, especially in the form which the fat takes, but there is on the market available a product which is a very close imitation in all ways of mother's milk. This is a so-called synthetic milk. The basis of the mixture is cow's milk, to which has been added potassium salt and lactose, and special fat in the proportion of 4 per cent. Incorporated by homogenization. The fat is a mixture of vegetable and animal fats with cod liver oil, having a melting point and chemical constants approximating those of the fat of human milk.

Cow's Milk Standard

Either cow's milk or goat's milk will probably remain as the standard to which most mothers will select to give the baby at the weaning period. The animal milk should be pasteurized or, preferably, boiled for infant use. If artificial feeding is to be the main source of nutrition from birth, Scramped meat—beef, lamb, mutton or chicken, can be added.

Fruits, such as oranges, stewed apples, peaches, prunes, pulp, or thoroughly ripe bananas, may be given as a dessert once a day. Simple desserts, custards and puddings, are also permissible.

Vitamins Added to Diet

Vitamin C and Vitamin D have to be added to any diet in order to prevent nutritional disorders. Vitamin C can be added in the form of orange juice or tomato juice, and Vitamin D in the form of cod liver oil.

Soon after the baby is entirely weaned other articles of food may be added to its diet. The most prominent of these are the cereals, such as oatmeal, corn meal, farina, wheat cereals, etc. Corn flakes, shredded wheat and puffed grain, or ready cooked package cereals, are easily digestible and add variety to the diet.

Vegetables such as spinach, carrots, peas, string beans, lima beans, tomatoes, cauliflower, cabbage and potatoes can now be given, and the child should receive the yolk of one egg daily, at least up to the age of 14 months. After that a whole soft-boiled egg should be fed once a day.

Scramped meat—beef, lamb, mutton or chicken, can be added.

Fruits, such as oranges, stewed apples, peaches, prunes, pulp, or thoroughly ripe bananas, may be given as a dessert once a day. Simple desserts, custards and puddings, are also permissible.

MOTHERS' DAY

SUNDAY, MAY 12TH

Remember your Mother on Mothers' Day—as if you had to be reminded! Does she live in town? Surprise her Sunday . . . drop in on her, take her for a drive, give her something nice and unexpected—it doesn't matter how small a gift you choose!

Does she live away? Then write her now—telegraph her or call her long distance—or, best of all, gladden her heart with a visit in person and a gift she'll adore in your bag! Her sincere appreciation will warm your heart for days and months to come.

ASHVILLE

New Holland's new mayor, C. V. Stebleton, is the step-father of Mrs. John Messick and Miss Louise Stoker of Cherry-st, and is a frequent visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Lindsay entertained Mrs. Minnie Hubbard of Columbus over the week-end.

Miss Lois L. Bond of Columbus, a former teacher in the Asheville public schools, spent Sunday with Mrs. Minnie Snyder and Miss Cleone Dunnick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Omernick former Asheville residents and now located on a farm near Richwood, in Union-co, visited with Mrs. Omernick's brother, Fred J. Hines and family, Wednesday.

Cliff Young and sister, Miss Cora Bock of East Ringgold, and Roland Brintlinger of near Asheville, spent Tuesday with their relative, Mrs. Sophia Briggs and had part in the celebration of her 88th birthday anniversary.

The Well of St. Keyne

The well of St. Keyne is in Cornwall, England. It is said that the first of a married couple to taste its waters will "rule the roost."

AT THE CLIFTONA

Wallace Beery and Robert Young in a scene from "West Point of the Air," showing at the Cliftona Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

AT THE GRAND THEATRE

WILL ROGERS presides, somewhat quizzically, over the romance of KENT TAYLOR and EVELYN VENABLE in "The County Chairman." This is Fox Film's pungent screen version of the famous George Ade comedy, in which Rogers plays a fire-eating boss in a small Wyoming town, back at the turn of the century.
